What is the difference between Masago and Tobikko?

MASAGO (direct translation from Japanese meaning "fine/small sand") is generally eggs from Capelin, which is about 1mm in size.

They have a crunchier texture and can be cooked in dishes like Pasta or Fried Rice.

TOBIKKO (direct translation from Japanese meaning Tobi/Flying + Ko/Child) is specifically eggs from Flying Fish, which is about 2mm in size. They have a brilliant gem-like appearance, and are recommended for cold garnish.

What is Ocean Wise®?

Founded by Vancouver Aquarium, Ocean Wise® is a conservation program, designed for restaurants and consumers to encourage choosing sustainable seafood options. Ocean Wise® recommended seafood are determined to be "abundant and resilient to fishing pressures: well managed based on current research: harvested in a method that ensures limited bycatch: and that limit damage to marine or aquatic habitats and negative interactions with other species."
